When the DePauw and Butler eleven face each other next Saturday on Irwin field at Indianapolis it will be for the fifteenth game since football rivalry has existed between the two schools, according to available records. The two schools have met fourteen times, DePauw winning seven games, Butler six and one game being a 0 to 0 tie, in 1898. There are eleven years, from 1891 to the present, when the two institutions failed to get together, two of the stretches embracing three-year vacations, 1892 to 1894 and 1906 to 1908, inclusive.

Both schools have broken even on the count of shut-out victories, each having whitewashed the other four times. Neither college has been able to run up a very large score against the other, the biggest win going to DePauw in 1904 when the Methodists defeated the Irvington lads by a score of 36 to 0.

DePauw Has Edge.

Comparative scores of the present season seem to stamp the Methodists as the superiors of the Blue and White team, but DePauw has not forgotten last year when Butler sprang the surprise of the season and defeated the Old Gold aggregation 7 to 0 on McKeen field, robbing the DePauw eleven of an undisputed claim to the state title. Butler has always put up its strongest fight of the season against DePauw and Young's men will come to Indianapolis Saturday determined to avenge the defeat of last year and dispell the Butler "jinx."

Coach Ralph Young has been drilling his warriors carefully for Saturday's game. He has not given them any new plays for this setto and the Methodists are expected to rely on straight football of the "old army game" variety. The DePauw back field is working the best of the season and shows a strength on the offense that marks it as one of the best in the state. Perfect interference, that for which Young has been working all season, marked its play last Saturday against Earlham and DePauw supporters are expecting the same form against Butler.

Thomas Keeps Busy.

Coach Thomas is making every effort to set his men in shape for Saturday's game, and, despite injuries and interference on account of ineligibility, it is expected that he will round up a squad that will make a respectable showing. Ralph Agnew, a back field man, is now said to be ineligible, and Fritz Wagoner, another back field man, is likely to be out of the game for the remainder of the season on account of the injuries sustained in the Rose Poly and Wabash games. The coach gave out several new plays yesterday and drilled his men in new positions, which a change of lineup has made necessary.

Prolonged workouts of the large DePauw football squads of this season have packed the clay soil of McKeen Field so hard that Coach Young has been forced to take his squad off of the field for practice. A temporary athletic field has been leased for the remainder of the season. The new field is known as Lynch field and lies three blocks farther west than McKeen field. The foundation soil of McKeen field has been like cement for the last two weeks and the Old Gold players have been complaining of badly cut and bruised feet.

A gridiron has been laid out on the new athletic lot and goal posts are being erected. Work will be begun immediately upon McKeen field in the effort to have it in better playing condition for the Rose Poly game here on Old Gold day, November 13. The Rose game, which is the only home game remaining for the Methodists, will be played on McKeen field as there are no seating accommodations at the new park.

Coach Young sent his squad through a long tackling and blocking practice yesterday in preparation for Butler, Saturday, and then took them out to Lynch field, where he ran them through signal practice until 5 o'clock. In addition to the daily grind at the dummy, Young has mapped out heavy scrimmages for Wednesday and Thursday. On Friday he will give his men but a light signal drill.

BOYD NO LONGER BULL MOOSE HEAD

RUMOR HAS IT THAT JACKSON BOYD HAS RESIGNED AS LEADER OF THE PROGRESSIVES IN INDIANA AND THAT EDWIN M. LEE, VICE-CHAIRMAN, HAS TAKEN CHARGE OF ORGANIZATION.

NO STATEMENT BY BOYD

STATEMENT BY JACKSON BOYD

There is nothing to give out at the present. Just now I am busily engaged in legal and literary work. There will be a meeting of the Progressive State Committee shortly after Nov. 18, at which time a statement will be given the public. The Progressive party is in a flourishing condition and will be heard from in the coming elections.

There has been a rumor in circulation for the last two or three days that Jack Boyd, of Greencastle, has resigned as Progressive state chairman. The resignation, if it has taken place, has not been made public, but the rumor says it may be given out soon. Boyd declines to affirm or deny that he has resigned, but he said last evening that he might have a statement for publication within the next few days.

"Whatever is done or whatever may be done will be for the good of the Progressive party," said Boyd. "The party is in good shape and nobody wants to do it any harm. I can not understand how such a report got out, for I know that nothing has been done that was to be given out to the public."

Lee Heads Organization.

Persons who keep track of things political will not be at all surprised if they learn that Boyd has resigned. Edwin M. Lee, formerly state chairman, has opened Progressive headquarters in Indianapolis and he announces that he is representing both the state committee and the national committee. As the matter now stands, Lee is the head of the party organization in Indiana, and inasmuch as there is no need of two heads to such an institution as the Indiana Bull Moose party, the resignation of Boyd as state chairman might be expected to follow Lee's assumption of authority.

George W. Perkins, of New York who was the angel of the Progressive party in 1912 and 1914, was in Indianapolis recently, and he made two speeches. One was at the convention of the Indiana Bankers' Association and the other was at a banquet of Bull Moosers at the Denison hotel. There was activity among the Moosers while Perkins was in town. The presence of a fairy or of an angel might be expected to attract much attention.

There was much talk on that day about party prospects and future activities. The one element that was lacking up to that time was a method of financing the organization. A Bull Moose campaign can not be run without money—and Perkins was in town.

According to a story that has been in circulation, there was an important conference between Perkins, Lee, Boyd and one or two others.

$20,000 to Oil Up Machine.

The situation was explained to Perkins and the story goes that he finally agreed to see that $20,000 was supplied with which to oil up the machine and put it in running order. Fifty thousand dollars is mentioned as the sum that was first impressed on Perkins as being required, but $20,000 was all he would stand for.

The next question was the selection of a chauffeur for the machine after it had been greased up with the $20,000. It is said that Perkins favored Lee. The joyous task of sprinkling $20,000 among the faithful throughout the state was sufficient to arouse the aspirations of several of the leaders. The fact that Lee has opened headquarters and is taking the lead in the work leaves no place for Boyd as the party head in Indiana. It is believed, therefore, that his resignation as state chairman will be announced soon.

Since Perkins was here it has become known that an effort was made to sidetrack Boyd by giving him the Progressive nomination for Governor of Indiana, but it is said that he has not taken kindly to this plan to kick him upstairs. He says he can not run for Governor, because he is too busy a man.

J. O. Cammack, the local photographer, today celebrated his twentieth business year anniversary in Greencastle. Mr. Cammack came to Greencastle from Indianapolis just twenty years ago, being employed in the Nicholson gallery on the north side of the square. He purchased his present studio the following January from W. F. Kerr and has been engaged in the photographic business in the same studio ever since.

BRAZIL HIGH SCHOOL HERE NEXT SATURDAY

The Brazil high school football team will come to Greencastle next Saturday to play the local high school team in the only home game played by the local lads this year. Greencastle will have its strongest line-up in the game and hopes to defeat the Brazil aggregation. This will be the last game of the season for the local lads and they hope to end their string of defeats with a victory over Brazil. The spirit of the team members is fine and the team, no doubt, will give a good account of itself in the Saturday contest.

Prohibit Liquor, Then?

By JAMES C. KELLY

Your average prohibitionist would by no means confine his coercive doctrines to the elimination of alcoholic liquors. Prohibition with him is a firmly imbedded principle which he would readily apply to anything which fails to conform to his own idea of right and wrong. Such is the true prohibitionist.

Then there is the prohibitionist for profit only. He has been able to capitalize on the bigotry of his zealous followers. He also is quite ready to apply his prohibition scheme, not principle, to anything which promises financial reward. In his class are the discredited politician and the illicit dispenser of booze.

Now let us suppose that we should have prohibition—not Maine or Kansas prohibition but the genuine article. In that event where would we find our "dry" friends? Would they be satisfied and happy?

These questions are being answered already by the bigoted movements of the sincere and professional fault finders. Already the movement against the sale and use of tobacco is under way. Tobacco is a wonderful product, spreading solace and contentment throughout the world. Of course there are fools who use tobacco intemperately and acquire tobacco heart, cancer and other ailments. Apply the prohibition theory to the situation and you will demand, just as is now being demanded in some quarters, that the growth, sale and consumption of tobacco be forbidden by law.

And then there are our old friends coffee and tea and even the winter apples from which we extract delicious cider. Would they be next under the ban because they are the objects of man's abuse?

Absurd as such deductions may seem, they are the logical conclusion to which prohibition would lead. Prohibition, with most persons, is a state of mind manifested outwardly by a continual dissatisfaction with things in general.—Adv.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.
(By Willis S. Thompson.)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 4.—Any writer on local, state or national public questions is naturally inclined to the discussion of those things which most vitally effect his readers and which are subject of their thoughts and conversation. Just now, as observed before, this thought and discussion is on the generally prosperous condition of the country and of localities and state.

Dun and Bradstreet, the two commercial agencies reliably reporting conditions both nationally and internationally, having the same access to the sources of general news, give most encouraging figures and comments each week. For instance, the latest weekly report from the Dun agency says:

"Not only is there no step backward in general business, but each week the pendulum of progress swings over a wider area and confidence is further strengthened. * * * No one now doubts that the brighter day has definitely dawned and the change of spirit finds expression in the launching of many deferred undertakings, while more new enterprises are being started than for several years past. Instead of the marked hesitancy and caution previously manifest, large projects are conceived and carried into effect in a manner that attests the increased confidence pervading the commercial world."

The comments of Bradstreet and Henry Clews are in full accord with the Dun reports. Throughout the country, east and west, the same condition is reflected in the newspapers of all political beliefs. There are very few railroads that have not exceeded all records in hauling of freight. Bank clearings and bank deposits have gone ahead of all previous figures. There is ample money for all legitimate undertakings and demands for use of bank surplus in commercial undertakings.

In the state of Indiana reliable reports have been received by the democratic state central committee showing excellent business conditions and every editor in the state reflects in his writings each day the prosperity that is visiting his community. The workmen's compensation board which receives reports from all employers in Indiana, points to the fact that during September the accidents to workmen were about 1800. In October there were about 3,000. This indicates a large increase in men employed and many more manufacturing opening or increasing their capacity.

Following the prosperity dinner at Newcastle on October 20, and receiving the reports of what a remarkable success it proved, many sections have adopted the idea.

The democrats of Jasonville will give an all day and night demonstration on November 5. At Mt. Summit an evening prosperity dinner will be held November 9. Tipton, Connorsville and Winchester will follow with the same sort of dinners on the 10th, 11th and 12th. On the 17th Evansville will have a day and evening demonstration. This will be on a large scale for the whole first congressional district. A prosperity dinner will follow at Richmond on the evening of the 18th, and a similar affair is set for the 23rd at Decatur. These are the prosperity love feasts that are announced thus far to the state central committee.

The pressure has grown so strong that, as already pointed out, the district republican calamity celebrations and feasts of frost and gloom have been called off. An attempt is to be made to hold a demonstration to weep over republican conditions on the 29th of December. They have decided to spend their time and money for two months to get an attendance and have chosen Indianapolis, hoping the whole state may produce an audience.

EIGHTEEN HUNDRED ACCIDENTS REPORTED

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 4.—The Workmen's Compensation Board is making an excellent record, both in keeping up with the work and in satisfying employers and employees.

In September there were more than eighteen hundred accidents re-

NO REASON FOR IT.

When Greencastle Citizens Show a Way.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Greencastle citizen says:

Asa Smith, cabinet maker, 306 N. Madison St., Greencastle, says: "I have had a lot of suffering from disordered kidneys. My back was weak and lame and when I bent over I almost had to scream out with pain. My kidney acted too often and the kidney secretions were very unnatural. The first box of Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me wonderfully. By taking them occasionally, my kidneys are kept in good condition."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Smith had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv.

ported. In October there were more than three thousand, making in round numbers about five thousand in the two months, the increase in the second month being due to the larger number of people employed in the state as a result of increased business activity.

In September there were forty settlements where these were necessary because of the seriousness of the injuries. In October there were three hundred and thirty-three such settlements. With these five thousand accidents and near four hundred in which settlements have been ordered by the board, there have been but two contests by the interested parties. One of these is in a case where, since the awarding of the settlement, the employer believes that the employee is able to go to work sooner than was anticipated in the first ruling. He wishes the employee to resume his duties.

This is a record worth mentioning since it is a fact that in no other state having a similar law has the board gone to work with such smooth workings and such satisfactory results for all concerned—this including the very economical management which satisfies all the people.

WHAT IS YOUR FAVORITE APPLE?

What is your favorite apple? Come to the Indiana apple show, Tomlinson hall, Indianapolis, November 6-13, and see your chosen favorite among the other fifty-six varieties on display.

Few people realize that there are twenty-six hundred distinct varieties of apples grown in Indiana. While only a score of these are of commercial importance, there are dozens of others that are worth growing in small home orchards for consumption on the place.

Realizing the interest in the qualities of the principal varieties, the Purdue Horticultural Department will make an extensive exhibit at the Indiana apple show. The merits and demerits of a hundred different kinds of apples will be shown with a plate of each variety.

How many varieties exist may be realized by reading the following non-sense story:

"The Duchess of Oldenberg, who was a fair lady, was engaged to be married to a young army officer, Captain Rolfe Vandevere. It was announced in June that the marriage would take place in Early Harvest. But Lady Minkler, who had become enamored of the captain, employed a Northern Spy to take a Horse to Greencastle and confer with the Prime of Lankford, and endeavor to have him intercede with King McIntosh to procure a leave of absence for the captain, so that he could spend a vacation shooting on her estate in the Wolf River country near the confluence with the St. Lawrence in Ontario.

"The Prime was indisposed and referred the emissary to a Famous Dominie named Ivanhoe, who was generally intoxicated with Canada Red Wine. Being unsuccessful in his efforts the Spy returned to his Lady employer bearing an exquisite Belleflower that would make any Maiden Blush with envy.

"Before further action was possible the captain who was a Wealthy Mann, was out for a jaunt, and being tired sat on a Stump near Cooper's Market drinking Smith's Cider, and while resting he was struck by a Mammoth Black Twig, which he Swears was wielded by Walter Pease, who had become jealous over the captain's attentions to Caroline R., a famous Western Beauty, who was a daughter of the well known Arkansas Black Senator. Dr. Baldwin was summoned, and after an examination of his patient a consultation was held with Dr. Gravenstein, and they decided to remove the patient to Lowell for an operation.

"News of the felonious assault spread, and the suspect confessed the crime. He escaped to Spitzenberg where he found Scott's Winter as disagreeable as he had heard. His only recreation was reading the papers from Pewaukee and his sole companion was Sitovka Arabskoe Tetofsky, a famous Russian nihilist in exile. This made him Stark mad.

"The captain recovered slowly, and he removed to the home of Colonel Porter, and later to Hotel Salome where he Bismark formerly stayed. Upon his recovery both the fair contestants began laying plans to monopolize the young officer's attentions. Delicacies like Chenango Strawberries Jersey Sweet pears, Winter Bananas and Sops of Wine were sent by both ladies daily.

"R. I. Greening insisted that he break with the two lovers, and devote his attention to a Miss Crab, a niece of the Honorable Pearmain Walbridge, a well known financier and ship owner. But this young lady previously had been engaged to a young man named Ben Davis, who Haas a Delaware Red complexion and who had followed the course of Alexander in conquering the world of femininity. In his York Imperial sway Davis had encountered Jonathan Wagner, a shrewd attorney, who had designs on the young Heiress herself.

"The captain having decided to discard his erstwhile lovers, realized he had a difficult undertaking ahead of him in dealing with the two rivals for the hand of the rich heiress, and he observed that only a Paragon could hope to win out eventually. Accordingly, he procured a Red Astrachan with Stars on the collar and lapels, so as to give a soldierly air to his dress. He purchased a necklace of Opalescent pearls of Baxter, the Jeweler, a lover's talisman called "None-such" from a fakir, provided himself with a bouquet of Sweet Boughs, a volume of Belle de Boskoop's poems, a copy of the old painting "Walker's Beauty" and sent out to see his Lady fair. His reception was cordial and his conversation was Golden Sweet. He pushed his case and soon proved himself the victor, as cards were out shortly announcing the engagement. At the marriage Gideon Ewalt was best man and Miss Benoni Bolken

Hubbardson was bridesmaid.

"To make a complete romance the two rivals for the hand of the young heiress met the two rivals who had sought to become the wife of the captain and matches resulted between Lady Minkler and Jonathan Wagner, and between the Duchess of Oldenberg and Ben Davis. The captain and his fair young wife arranged a wedding tour for the three couples together, and plans were fixed to leave by Maxon's Early tour for Peck's Pleasant hotel at Pippin, a Newton in Switzerland, where the Roses Bloom and Tolman's Sweet violets grow the year round in the valleys where the Transparent brooks mingle their songs with the sounds of birds and lowing herds. The party had a great time climbing mountains skirted with Russet forests, and found the Snows of many winters on the craggy peaks nearby."

INDIANIANS WILL BE SUED.

District Attorney Directed to Go After Money Owed to United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The department of justice has prepared instructions to District Attorney Frank C. Dailey, of Indiana, and other district attorneys in regard to bringing suits for the recovery of government money lent to Americans, who were stranded in Europe when the war broke out and who have failed to make settlement of the claims which the government has against them. Recently the treasury department made public a list of some of these claims, which included fifteen against persons who gave Indiana addresses.

At the department of justice it is stated that district attorneys will be instructed to investigate each case and wherever a person is found who is able to pay his claim, suit will be instituted in the name of the government in the United States court.

MONON ROUTE BOOSTS INDIANA APPLE SHOW

The Monon railroad started refrigerator cars from New Albany today to bring apples to Indianapolis for the apple show in Tomlinson hall, November 6-13. By a special order, the refrigerator service was added to the freight schedule, and was so arranged that exhibitors along the Monon line could place their exhibits aboard with the assurance that they would arrive in Indianapolis Friday, in plenty of time to be placed.

Announcement was also made in Indianapolis that H. R. Kurrie, president of the Monon, and his official family would go to Indianapolis next week for the purpose of attending the apple show. He was in Indianapolis last year during the exhibit and was greatly interested in it. The Monon, running through a territory that contains many apple growers, is endeavoring to increase interest in this industry and is putting out advertising matter with that end in view. One of the Monon's methods is the circulation of statistics regarding apples in Indiana.

How Monon Boosts Show.

The advertising matter says: "Do you know that Indiana produced in 1914 200,000 more barrels of apples than the state of Oregon? "Why go to the northwest to grow apples? The big profits are right here in Indiana. The soil is especially adapted—the land is cheap and it is nearby.

"Freight rates are less than one-tenth of what western growers have to pay to market their produce in the middle west and eastern centers, to say nothing the great saving in time and consequent turnover of money.

"One orchard cost $75 an acre three years ago and the grower refused $500 an acre last season. Conservative growers report a profit of 200 per cent. on orchards properly cared for.

"The Indiana apple show is the largest east of the Pacific slope. Ninety per cent. of the fruit exhibited there in 1914 was grown along the Monon route and 90 per cent. of the prizes awarded in 1914 were on fruits raised along the Monon route.

"This bears out George Ade, when he says: 'All the world while things in Indiana seem to be clustered along the Monon route.'"

"HONESTY AS BASIS OF MODERN BUSINESS" IS SUBJECT OF CHAPEL TALK

In an address Wednesday morning Prof. Nathaniel W. Barnes, head of the department of English Composition, recommended campus honesty from the standpoint of business. He traced the spread of honesty in business as proof that it is the accepted policy in modern business methods.

He explained that formerly a man could get credit according to his willingness to pay. Mail order houses are realizing the value of fair dealing. Unreliable advertising is being done away with. The use of the word "free" in advertising has been censured, also "the best" and "absolutely safe" in connection with stocks and bonds. Mr. Barnes called attention to the fact that The New York Tribune guarantees all advertisements that it publishes, and will make good the guarantee at the cashier's desk. He also mentioned the fact that the Chicago Tribune not long ago published a notice warning the public against buying stock in the Triangular Film Company unless prepared for a loss. This notice was to counteract the sensational advertising of the immense profits of the Film Company and to call attention to the risk involved in such an enterprise.

Mr. Barnes commented on the fact that many department stores have done away with comparative prices to avoid inaccurate statements of value.

DEPAUW "STICKERS" GOING
FAST BEFORE OLD GOLD DAY

It is expected that many DePauw poster stamps will be used on Old Gold Day correspondence. Students can get any number they wish at the office of the President, or the Registrar. A great number have been given out, 5,000-plus, according to "Doby," but there probably will be enough to supply everybody.

DePauw is one of the first colleges in the state to adopt this system of advertising, Butler being another school that uses the poster stamp as a means of publicity.

HISTORY CLUB SECURES
PAGEANT PRODUCER TO SPEAK ON NOVEMBER 18

Miss Charity Dye, a member of the Indiana Historical Pageant Commission, will address the next meeting of the John Clark Ridpath History Club to be held at the Phi Psi house on Thursday evening, November 18. Miss Dye was formerly a teacher of the English language at Shortridge high school in Indianapolis and is a well known producer of pageants, having spent many years in teaching the methods of staging a successful pageant.

As a member of this commission, she is planning to give the members of the History Club an idea of how to write and stage, successfully, the various episodes necessary to represent the history of Old Asbury.

COMMITTEE OF TEACHERS
FAVORS LIFE LICENSE

In the report of the Committee on Resolutions of the Indiana State Teachers' Association there appears a resolution asking that the Board of Education of the state have the power to grant life licenses to certain classes of teachers.

"Resolved, That we favor a law giving to the State Board of Education the power to grant a teacher's life license to persons who shall have been graduated from a standard college maintaining a four years course, and whose preparation shall have included at least twenty semester hours of systematic work in education, and who shall have taught successfully in Indiana for two years after graduation."

The above resolution is a reaffirmation of a resolution introduced at the 1914 session.

TILDEN APPOINTED HEAD OF TEACHERS' COMMITTEE

Prof. F. C. Tilden was appointed chairman of the county superintendents and institute instructors with power to select the other members of a committee of this body at the Indiana State Teachers' Association held last week in Indianapolis.

The aim of this committee is to investigate the present conditions pertaining to the county superintendents and the institute instructors and recommend reforms looking toward new legislation in connection with county teachers' institutes and toward closer relation between institute instructors and the office of the State Superintendent of Instruction.

The committee proposes to spend much time next summer in its investigation of this alleged weakness in the present educational system.

Will pay only six per cent. but go on tax duplicate.

The affairs of the wrecked Citizens Building and Loan company of Brazil are still to the front. The Brazil News of Thursday says:

"Judge J. M. Rawley has made a ruling in the receivership case of the Citizens Building and Loan Company which is a big benefit to the borrowers from that institution. E. S. Holliday, attorney for the Citizens Building and Loan Company filed a petition with the court stating that it has been the rule of the company to charge the borrowers six per cent. interest and four per cent. premium. The four per cent. has gone into the general fund to be distributed pro rata as profit. The petition asked the court to rule on whether the borrowers should be compelled to pay the four per cent. on the premium in the future. Judge Rawley held that they will not make this payment but shall only continue to pay the six per cent. interest."

"It has been a popular pastime for the people to tell how many hundred dollars they stand in line to lose in the failure of this institution. At the meeting of the stockholders held recently at the court house County Assessor J. Q. Adams noted that there were many stockholders there who had not listed their stock as taxable property with the assessor and the assessor may ask for an order from the court to get the books of the company for the purpose of making such entries on the tax duplicates at the actual value of the stock when the settlement is made."

AN INTERESTED PARTY.

"Yes! Cholly has taken up hunting. I believe his doctor recommended it."

"His doctor? I thought it might have been his tailor!"

WHAT IT COSTS.

Running an auto is now so much of a necessity that I should like to give my experience. I am deeply pained from time to time as I notice the gross extravagance of my friends, and I think it is high time that the real figures should be given.

When I was getting fifteen dollars a week, I talked the matter over with my wife, and we decided that we could deny ourselves the auto for another six months, but at that time I was suddenly raised to sixteen; no obstacle then preventing, I got my first car.

The cost of a car should be carefully considered. My experience is that it is better to get the best car you can—for the money, so I did not hesitate. I secured a modest little runabout for only five thousand dollars, paying the agent out of my first week's salary. The balance was furnished by my mother-in-law, who has the privilege of using it once every spring.

I have had the car now for six months; during this period we have been to California twice and we took a hurried trip over the Alps; besides this I have used it to go to and from my office.

The car has had very rough usage, and yet the total expense counting gasoline and three tire plugs, has been only three dollars. How do I account for this? I don't. I simply give the facts.

I might add that I am using the same spark-plugs as when I started, and I have been offered three times what they cost me. I intend to use them for a year or so longer, however, when I confidently expect to sell them for even more than this.

PROGRESSIVE FARMING.

"Well, yes," confessed honest Farmer Hornbeak, the while a grim grin wrinkled his weather-beaten complexion. "It's a good 'ol o' trouble, but the satisfaction I feel amply repays me for the extra work. Ye see, by degrees I'm sharpenin' up the top of every stump on the place, and in the course o' time I hope to have matters so arranged that the hired man will find it fully as comfortable to stand up durin' the day as to set down."

TRUE.

Willis—I see a fellow in New York took out $250,000 insurance on $200 worth of goods.

Gillis—That's nothing. I know a lot of fellows who carry $25,000 life insurance on a thirty-cent life.

ITS LOCATION.

Her Memory

From Life.

Warrington had really no right to be angry. He was not engaged to Virginia, merely engaged with her in a somewhat tempestuous summer flirtation. Down in his heart he knew it for just that. But he was angry no less, for she had allowed a "talking ass" newly arrived at the Inn to "hog her whole program and make him look a fool before everyone."

"Ah, ha!" cried the still small voice, "so it's pride, not heart." And that made him more angry than ever.

So he went away from the ball-room out onto the dim veranda and strode up and down muttering things better left unuttered. Presently he stopped at the far shadowed end, lit a cigarette, snapped his case viciously and said "damn."

A demure voice just behind him said "shocking!" and he turned to confront a small figure in a big chair backed up against the wall.

"I repeat, shocking," said the voice—a very nice voice. And giggled—a very ripply little gurgly little giggle.

His anger went away.

"Mysterious lady of the shadows," he said (he was very good at that sort of thing), "does my righteous wrath amuse you?"

He came nearer. He had thought he knew every girl at the hotel. Here was a strange one, and pretty. Very. He decided that monopolizing Virginia had been a mistake.

"It's not a night for wrath, right-cous or otherwise. See!" and she stretched out her arms to the great moon hanging low over the golf links beyond.

He hunted for a chair. This was bulky. And when he had drawn one up, quite close:

"Whence do you come, all silvery with the moon, to chide me for my sins, moon-maid?"

Without doubt he was outdoing himself.

She laughed softly and leaned toward him, elfin in the pale shimmer of light. "I am Romance," she breathed, "and this is my night. The night the moon and I conspire to make magic."

He secured a slim hand. The pace was telling. His voice was a little husky.

"Your charms are very potent, moon-maid," he said, "it is magic, isn't it? It—it doesn't happen like this—really?"

"Your eyes met—clung."

"You—you take my breath," he stammered. "Does your heart mean what your eyes are saying? Don't—don't look at me like that unless you do—mean it."

She didn't answer in words. She, too, was breathing quickly.

He released her hand, and sprang up—half turned away. Then he dropped to the arm of her chair. Swiftly he took her face in his two hands. The throbbing of her throat intoxicated him. "I—I—love me," he stammered.

Her lips moved. A sob more poignant than words. They kissed for a long time.

There were footsteps down the veranda. She drew away. She recognized her mother's voice and Miss Nelson's. She was thinking very quickly. Should she send him away or end it now—end it all now?

"You darling—you darling. I—I love you," he was saying.

She leaned to him. "Kiss me. Kiss me—quickly."

"Mother," she called, "here I am." She laughed. "But I guess you know I wouldn't run away. Mother, this is Mr. Ah—Brown, and we have been discussing—doctors. Mr. Brown has an uncle in exactly my condition. Hopelessly paralyzed."

She said it calmly. The world reeled. His brain was numb. She was being wheeled away by the nurse. A wheeled chair—God!

"Good night!" she called.

A cripple. He had kissed her. Horrible! He made for the bar.

In her room while the nurse was making her ready for bed, the mother said "How strange you look, dear. And how—how beautiful."

She flung her arms wide in an intoxication of triumph. "Mother," she half sobbed, "all my life to now I've been just—a thing—a cripple. Now—now—I am a woman."

"Oh, God!" she cried, her eyes staring. "Life is good—good. For now—I have—a memory."

Well Disguised.

The customer came forward to attend to the nervous old beau who was mopping his bald head and shining poll with a big silk handkerchief.

"And what can I do for you?" asked

"I want a little help in the way of a suggestion," said the old fellow. "I intend going to the French students' masquerade ball tonight, and I want a distinctly original costume—something I may be sure no one else will wear. What would you suggest?"

The customer looked at him over attentively, bestowing special notice on the gleaming knob.

"Well, I'll tell you," he said then, thoughtfully, "why don't you sugar your head and go as a pill?"

BILLION GERMS IN DISH ICE CREAM

KANSAS UNIVERSITY BACTERIOLOGIST EXPERIMENTS WITH MICROBES SIX MONTHS

THE COLD DOES NOT KILL THEM

They Live in Ice and Continue to Multiply Rapidly, He says in Bulletin

Topeka, Kan.—When one goes into the corner drug store and purchases a dish of ice cream he purchases, in addition to the cream, 2,522,666,666 germs. That is the number of microbes found by Prof. F. H. Billings of the Kansas University Bacteriological laboratories in 10 cents worth of fresh ice cream.

Prof. Billings has been conducting experiments in germs in ice cream for six months, and his conclusions are that there are never less than 2,500,000 of kicking squirming microbes in the average dish of ice cream, not more than a day old. As the age of the cream increases the more bugs one gets for the same money. The smallest number of microbes found in ice cream three days old was 3,911,666,666. These figures are for the cleanest, purest, and best of ice cream that Prof. Billings could buy.

The Kansas University has just sent out a bulletin on the germs to be found in ice cream, prepared by Prof. Billings, to show the results of his experiments. The bulletin says:

"Cold is unquestionably unfavorable to the activity of the germs, but the experiments showed that germs are the most resistant to extremes of temperature of all known organisms. Often one thinks nothing of using ice from a river when one would not think of drinking the water from the same stream. The process of freezing removes some of the germs but others will live in the ice all summer and have their activity restored when they are put into a pitcher with the ice to make a cooling drink."

"The experiments proved that germs increased in number in stored ice cream. A sample of fresh ice cream tested 16,000,000 germs to the cubic centimeter. After three days storage in a frozen state the number of germs in the same sample had gone up to 25,000,000 germs to each cubic centimeter. This equals 2,522,666,666 germs to the ordinary dish of fresh ice cream and 3,941,666,666 microbes to the same sized dish of cream three days old."

Tuberculosis germs have lived for 45 days in the laboratories when they were kept at a temperature of 345 degrees below freezing. The germs lost none of their vitality or virulence in that time. Other germs have stood equally severe tests without injury.

"Cold cannot be depended upon as a germ exterminator, but the winter is a bad time for the microbes. They have fewer opportunities to get in their deadly work. The cold weather renders the germs less active and they are not so harmful. Sufficient use of ice during the summer will stop the ravages of the germs in warm weather. It is impossible to find milk that is free from germs. Some milk has many millions less germs than other milk, depending upon the sanitary conditions of the dairy and how the milk is handled. The fifth germs kill many bottle fed infants and infant mortality is most prevalent in warm weather, when the germs are most active. Keeping the milk cold in warm weather does not reduce the number; in fact, it increases the number, but it makes the germs less active and hence less harmful."

Woman Convinces Relatives She Was Child Kidnapped 31 Years Ago.

San Francisco—By a misshapen great toe and a birth mark, Mrs. G. E. Kostadt established her identity as Annie Mooney, who was kidnapped from her parents in this city 31 years ago, when she was five years old, kept by Chinese for several years and rescued by police from a trunk in which she was hidden.

After her rescue Annie was adopted by a Portuguese family. Her foster mother died when she was 14 years old, and four years later Annie married Kostadt. James Mooney, her father and others offered rewards aggregating $2000 at the time of the child's disappearance. Mooney and his wife died several years ago.

The lad is incorrigible, his parents being unable to control him. The boy continually runs away from home, his excuse being that his step-mother does not treat him well. The lad ran away a few days ago, going to Brazil, where he was taken in charge by the Clay county probation officer. The officer notified William King, the local officer, who went to Brazil today and brought the lad to Greencastle. It was the father's request that the lad be sent to the school. The boy did not object, stating that he would rather be in the school than at home. The officers have been having trouble with the boy for the past two years.

DAVID BISPHAM CONCERT COMPANY TO APPEAR HERE.

Dean R. G. McCutchan of the DePauw School of Music has announced the engagement of another famous musical organization, the David Bispham Co., of New York, for a concert in Meharry hall. This famous organization will appear here on Tuesday evening, November 16, in a program which is of special merit.

To those acquainted with the musical geniuses of this country Mr. Bispham needs no introduction. He probably is the greatest musician in the United States. Not only a singer of exceptional voice, he is an actor, lecturer and operatic singer. He also appeared in vaudeville.

With Mr. Bispham are five other musicians of note, among them being Marie Narelle, a noted concert singer. The program will be in two parts, a one-act opera, "Adelaide," a story of a Beethoven love affair, being preceded by a concert entitled "The Rehearsal."

The plate glass in the door of the Shipley Jewelry store was broken this afternoon when the door, which was standing open, was blown to with such force that the glass was broken.

War on Photography Studio.

Representatives of an Indianapolis photographic concern, who have been coming to Greencastle for the past few years soliciting business on special contracts, will have a hard time continuing their business here. J. O. Cammack, the local photographer, this morning filed an affidavit against the representative, charging him with doing business without a license. A city license requires that this class of business representatives pay a license fee of $5 a day. So far the police have been unable to find the representative of the Indianapolis firm, who has been at the Commercial hotel for two days. Bloomington and other towns, it is said, have driven representatives of the same firm out of town and Greencastle is about to do the same thing.

It is said that the company misrepresented the class of work done in the special contract which they submit. The company has been sending solicitors to Greencastle who get contracts signed. Then a photographer comes and takes the pictures. The company advertise to furnish pictures worth $10 a dozen for $3.75. One dollar is paid when the contract is signed; $1.75 is paid to the photographer and $1 when the pictures are delivered.

The local officers will insist upon the payment of the $5 a day license fee and should the charge that the company is misrepresenting their work in their advertising matter be substantiated, there might be criminal prosecutions.

New Troop of Boy Scouts in City.

Prof. Henderson announced this morning that there will be a new boy scout troop organized in the near future. Mr. Henderson says that there are so many boys who wish to join the boy scouts that it is necessary that a new troop be organized immediately. The present troop under Scout Master Henderson and Assistant Scout Master Fribley, met Wednesday evening at the public library. The troop has at the present time three patrols and cannot be increased.

Each troop is composed of two or three patrols, never more, and that only on special occasions. Each patrol consists of eight boys. Each troop has a scout master and when there is more than one troop in a community, there shall be a scout commissioner. The organization of a new troop in this community has been delayed on account of the difficulty of obtaining a scout master for the troop. This has been practically adjusted now and all those boys who have been asking to join the boy scouts and many others, who wish to join, are urged to be present at the public library next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock and Prof. Henderson will talk to them at that time and arrange for the organization of the new troop.

When the troop has been organized Prof. Henderson, who is scout master of Troop 6, the present troop, will become scout commissioner and as assistant scout master Fribley of the present troop, will become scout master of the new troop.

The troop of boys scouts now known as Troop 6 will take active part in the exercises to be held at Forest Hill cemetery when Washburn Chapter, D. A. R. unveils the monument erected to the memory of the Revolutionary soldiers on Friday afternoon.

Clarence Kiser, through his attorney, Charles McGaughey, of Roachdale, brought suit for divorce in the circuit court of Putnam county Wednesday morning against his wife, Lillie M. Kiser. He also asks for the custody of the two children. The plaintiff alleges cruel and inhuman treatment and also says that his wife was quarrelsome and refused to keep his house.

There will be no meeting of the Coterie Club this week.

RULING OF JUDGE

HUGHES REVERSED

The appellate court has reversed the Vigo circuit court, which refused to give the Terre Haute Paper Company an injunction against the Terre Water Works Company to prevent the water company from shutting off its supply of water under the city ordinance. It was alleged that the water company was demanding an exorbitant price and conditions before it would supply water to the paper company. After the trial court refused to grant the injunction the water company shut off the supply of water and attempted to overcome the appeal by contending that it was a moot question, because the act sought to be enjoined had already been done.

Quotes From Book of Law.

The appellate court refuses to give ear to this argument and quotes with approval from a law book as follows: "Where suit is begun before the doing of a wrongful act and during the pendency of the suit the act is done by the defendant, the court will not thereby be deprived of its jurisdiction."

The court quotes from the decision of the court of another state as follows:

"It ought not to be within the power of a defendant in an injunction bill to oust the jurisdiction of the court by committing, pendent lite the very acts to prevent which the suit was begun."

Company Owed a Debt.

The court holds that the water company owed a duty to the public by the acceptance of its charter. The court says the ordinances of the city of Terre Haute contemplate that the water company shall supply water for the protection of property. The court says justice will be served by a new trial and orders a new trial of the cause instead of rendering judgment on the special finding of facts made by James Hughes, special judge, who tried the cause and gave the judgment which is reversed.

DePauw Loses a Legacy.

A special from Indianapolis under date of November 3, says:

"By a decision of the State Supreme Court today DePauw University loses a good size legacy. The court held the will of William E. Mack, which provides that the bulk of his estate, valued at $100,000, should go to DePauw after the death of his daughters, was void, and the estate will be divided as if no will had been made by Mack. The case was carried up from the Boone Circuit Court."
